

CALDWELL SCHOOL EVENT ENJOYABLE

Hearts of Hundreds of Kiddies Thumped When They Beheld Xmas Tree and Treat

Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Caldwell school there was held one of the most interesting events in the history of the lives of many of the 700 school children, when the program incident to the holidays and the closing of the school was begun. The program appearing in this paper was rendered, after which the chief attraction was the big Christmas tree.

There were presents galore, as were the children and happy faces seemed to form a sea of joyous humanity. The universal treat came through the united efforts of a number of men about the city who interested themselves in the happiness of the children. Parents of many, too, it was observed, were remembered, and the Christmas spirit was much in evidence.

The final day was short regarding the studies, many of the youngsters taking their books home Tuesday. There have been a number reported ill during the past month. The attendance has been very good and satisfactory progress has been made since the opening some time ago.

The tree was one of the biggest and most attractive ever seen in the city and was enjoyed as only children could enjoy it. There were donations by merchants, as well as individuals, which went far toward making the event most enjoyable to the youthful students.

FARMER IS FINED ON DOUBLE CHARGE

L. D. Stevens, of the Silver Creek neighborhood, came to the city Tuesday to do some shopping and was very successful. He patronized the merchants and the police, paying his respects to the city especially, since he divested himself of a roll of bills amounting to $40 in paying a fine for intoxication and another for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. This is the first time the latter charge has been in evidence, owing to warnings by the police, for some time. Stevens had plenty of money and as the charges and fines were read off to him he liquidated forthwith, was released, started out shopping again and later turned his machine toward Silver Creek and started homeward.

FAILS TO CLEAR HIMSELF OF CHARGE

After the evidence in a case wherein he was charged with larceny Tuesday in the county court, Stone Chenault, colored, was held to the grand jury in the sum of $200 by Judge W. K. Price, and he gave bond for his appearance. Chenault was apprehended at the instigation of Dr. G. G. Perry, who is said to have lost a valuable watch some time ago. Chenault admitted he first bought the timepiece and then sold it later, but was unable to name the man. He had witnesses who asserted they saw the transaction. However, they also were unable to state the identity of the man, and the court decided to hold the defendant. Chenault seemed surprised at not being acquitted. The watch is still in the possession of the unknown man.

They Treat One Another Where They Come From

When Prof. C. A. Keith summoned the male students to the Memorial Hall Tuesday afternoon and presented them with an unusually rare Christmas treat, he thought he was putting something over, but he found that the young men were "right back at him," for they had in their possession some special cigars and also some special candy for Mrs. Keith, and there was a surprise and much pleasure all about. The young men enjoyed the treat, as did their instructor and his wife, who will depart soon for Hot Springs, Ark., where they will remain during the vacation period.

STOP CAR, BREAK INTO HOUSE, RESCUE FAMILY

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Dec. 22.—The family of Patrick Quinn owe their lives to Motorman J. F. Pauley and Conductor J. J. Blackerby, who, passing on a Portland street car about midnight, found Quinn's home in flames. Unable to enter the dwelling, they broke open a window, rushed into the house and even then had to drag the Quinns from their beds in order to arouse them. The house was destroyed by the fire.

WANTS "HATS ON" IN ELEVATORS

(By Associated Press)
Cincinnati, O., Dec. 22.—"Hats on" in elevators, even though there may be women passengers is the slogan of the Cincinnati Building Owners and Managers' Association which has started a crusade to that end. Whether they will win their contention that the removal of hats in crowded elevators is a menace to passengers in the immediate vicinity of those who take off their headgear remains to be seen for many prominent Cincinnati women are opposed to the abolition of this old fashioned courtesy.

GOOD USE FOR BAD LANDS

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 22.—North Dakota bad lands save the lives of many cattle each winter, say agents of the state agricultural college extension department. Blizzards which kill a large number of cattle in their sweep across the plains cannot reach those cattle which have the buttes and coulees to protect them, the agents say.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 21.—Niles Morse gave chase after the car which raced away after wrecking Eugene Page's wagon, breaking his leg and crippling his mule, secured its number, and detection of the motorist is expected.

HARDING A SMOKER

President-elect Warren G. Harding smokes burley tobacco, we hear. Tobacco will return to a position of favor in the White House March 4 after 19 years in exile, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson not smoking while president. The next president, according to the correspondents, smokes pipes, cigars and cigarettes, and favors the latter. Vice President-elect Coolidge is also a smoker, preferring the cigar.—Burley Leaves.

HEARING A SERMON. PENALTY BOYS PAY

Paducah, Ky.—In juvenile court, Jas. Reeder and Elvis Fleming were arraigned on a charge of having written a five before the period on a 28-cent Christmas club check. Judge J. M. Lang administered unusual punishment. He first read the Ten Commandments and then delivered a sermon on "Thou Shalt Not Steal." Then two little weepers were told to go and sin no more.

POSTOFFICE RUSH NOW IN EVIDENCE

"Boys at Home" and Foreign Business Falls Off—Care- lessness in Marking

The rush of business at the post-office is on and will continue to become greater during the week, according to traditions, since the bulk of the business for short-distance sending is represented in a day or two. The foreign business is not nearly so great this year as last, due to the fact that there are thousands of young men at home this year who were "over there" last year.

The same degree of carelessness, despite the warnings, that has characterized the sending of presents heretofore, is much in evidence this year, according to postoffice attaches. Some of the addresses are scarcely intelligibly written to start with, and what their fate will be cannot be foretold.

Put your name and return address on the outside of every package, even twice will do no harm and then again on the inside for in case of accident, the package, as well as the money it represents, will not be lost. Every year there are thousands of hearts saddened and packages lost, due to carelessness in addressing and properly marking upon the part of the sender.

Became Bigamist to Keep Word

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Howard Wells, whose honeymoon was interrupted by the arrest of her husband in Chicago on a charge of bigamy, returned to her home here. According to the charge, Wells, a former soldier at Camp Taylor, married his first wife on October 4 and this one 20 days later. Mrs. Wells No. 2 says that he explained his first marriage was merely to settle some trouble, and he hadn't told her sooner because of desire not to cause her distress. They had been engaged for some time and he "went through with his promise" in spite of the other girl, she said.

Public Complimented By Police Chief Devore

There were a number of colored men and women arrested on Tuesday as a result of misdemeanors, one for intoxication, another for fighting and some for rolling the bones. There have been few arrests comparatively, it is said, in the city of Richmond for the week preceding the holidays, and the police are of the opinion the record will be far below the average in this regard. "The people are behaving all right," said Chief Devore. "They all seem to have money, or most of them, and plenty of work, and are not giving much trouble."

Used Gasoline for Rheumatics

Vanceburg, Ky.—Charles Bate, Mt. Laurel, takes the gasoline treatment for rheumatism. The quart bottle overturned on the hearth as he was bathing his feet and took fire. One of his feet was severely burned. He says he forgot about his rheumatism in the most frantic dance he had ever done.

Victim of Mistake

Vanceburg, Ky.—Latest reports from a Portsmouth hospital are that Charles Bertram, night telegraph operator here, is mortally wounded. He stopped at the home of John McKellup to leave a key, and Harvey Austin, a visitor, thought he was a burglar and shot him through the abdomen.

Speaking of Being Cool About It

Louisville, Ky.—Auto bandits drove leisurely up to the Standard Oil service station, jimmied a window, rifled the strong box, secured $53, and then drove away without exciting suspicion in the neighborhood that their visit was not proper.

County Clerk Resigns' Leaves

Miss Ruby Spurlin, third grade teacher in the city schools at Hazard, is at her home near Red House to spend the holidays.

XMAS BASKETS

The Christmas baskets will be packed in the basement of the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon from two to four o'clock. The committee from the various churches are as follows: Methodist, Mrs. W. A. Langford and Mrs. Sant Oldham; Presbyterian, Mrs. E. C. Stockton and Mrs. A. R. Denny; Episcopal, Mrs. Thomas C. McCown; Christian, Mrs. W. L. Arnold, Mrs. W. H. Bower and Mr. T. E. Baldwin; Baptist, Mrs. Joe Harris and Mrs. T. M. Wells.

It is the request of the committee that all gifts for the baskets be sent in, if possible, by two o'clock Thursday afternoon so that the work of packing may begin at once. There are fifty or more baskets to be given out, and the quantity of food necessary for filling these baskets will not be small. So let every individual or organization that wishes to bring little Christmas joy and cheer into more than half a hundred homes in Richmond kindly send in their gifts Thursday afternoon or early Friday morning.

Acting Chairman.

OVER TWO BILLIONS WAS REDISCOUNTED

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 22.—Nearly two billion dollars worth of paper, based on production and sales of farm products, was rediscounted by the Federal Reserve Banks this year, against $719,000,000 in 1919. Gov. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, estimated today. In the St. Louis district, and Western Kentucky figures were $220,000,000 last year, and $665,000,000. The same years for the Cleveland district in Eastern Kentucky respectively were $612,000,000, and $1,753,000,000.

BEREA JEWELRY WINDOW LOOTED

Berea gives credit to the greater cities for thoroughly modern automobile banditry, etc., but comes to the front and insists upon credit for the most up-to-date thievery on the calendar. F. W. Moore, jeweler, claims he has paid a price for this reputation for the city, and wants the fact known.

There was no gun play nor anything like the holding up and scaring clerks out of their wits; not even the proprietor suffered the knowledge that he was being robbed. The thief just broke a piece out of the front window where there were a number of watches and fobs, together with other jewelry on display, bent a wire and went fishing. He continued undisturbed until he had fished every article from the window and then left. The police are sure he has gone for they have been searching for him since the robbery was reported by Mr. Moore who discovered his loss upon returning to his store.

WHAT IT COSTS TO PRODUCE TOBACCO

Some Woodford County Facts That Prove Value of Weed Given by Authority

In the Woodford Sun, John D. Newman gives some interesting facts on what it costs to produce tobacco. What he says will be of interest to every tobacco grower in this section. He writes:

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Association has been organized recently and has elected its officers to serve until the first of March. Its purpose until the first of March. Its purposes are not to pool the tobacco, not to cut out a crop and not to tie up the tobacco belonging to its membership in any way. It will endeavor to ascertain facts in regard to the burley tobacco business and to present these facts to the producer, to the public and to the manufacturer. It will urge the curtailment of Burley production until supply and demand meet and will insist that a good crop of tobacco bring the cost of production and a fair profit.

Let us begin at home and try to ascertain what it has cost to produce the present crop of burley in Woodford county. What is true of Woodford is practically true in adjoining counties. I think a fair estimate would be that there are 10,000 acres planted to tobacco this year in Woodford county. On an average, one man and his family can grow and handle about six acres of tobacco. This and a few acres of corn and a small garden will keep a family pretty busy at all times. The average family is five persons. Ten months out of the year are required in planting, cultivating, housing, stripping and marketing the tobacco crop. Time may be found to grow 10 or 15 acres of corn. The teams, cows and hogs will consume all the tenant's share of the corn. He possibly may find time to do a few days work for his landlord and his neighbor. In this way, he may be able to clothe his family and himself.

The great money crop of Woodford county, both for landowner and tenant, is the tobacco crop. The time was in this county when wheat was grown, sold and shipped away from here in large quantities and bank deposits increased materially. Corn and live stock shipments were also a factor in bank deposits. The money received from wheat this year in the county was hardly noticeable in bank statements. The receipts from corn and live stock caused scarcely a ripple in financial affairs. Receipts from tobacco, on the other hand, largely increased bank deposits. These reach their high point in February and March.

Another tobacco crop is then started and at least 10,000,000 pounds of tobacco are produced annually in our county. A thousand pounds to the acre is a large estimate for this county this season. The yield will be nearer 850 pounds. At best, a man and his family will receive 3,000 pounds of tobacco as his share of the crop. If he and other members of his household sell at 30 cents a pound, he receives $900. If his meals cost 20 cents per person, it will cost $3 per day to feed his family, or exactly $900 for 30 days. He must work at something else the other 65 days in order to live.

How can he save anything at such wages? The landowner must contribute something to his support in order that the tobacco grower may pull through. In the long run, the landowner's portion of the tobacco crop will cost him equally as much per pound as the tenant's part has cost the tenant. It would seem that it was time for the landowner to cease figuring to make something off the tenant's labor, and equally time for the tenant to stop trying to get something from the landowner for nothing. In our opinion, the landowner and tenant should sit down together and count the cost of growing tobacco. Then they should unite with the cost of production, plus a reasonable profit for their product.

At least three million of dollars have been withdrawn from bank deposits in Woodford county since March and invested in the present tobacco crop. At 30 cents per pound, ten million pounds of Woodford county tobacco would simply return this money to the banks during the tobacco sales season. At 20 cents a pound, this crop would lose the growers of Woodford a million dollars, which would be reflected in bank deposits.

A united effort of banks, business men, landowners and tenants throughout the burley region can unquestionably dictate a fair price for our tobacco crop, or result in curailing the crop until there is no loss from its production. The Burley Tobacco Growers' Association is organizing, as a set of business, men, to study and develop the tobacco industry throughout the Burley region. Are you a member? If not, why not?

BOY PREACHER A GREAT REVIVALIST

What is said by the Stanford Interior Journal to have been one of the most soul-stirring and successful revivals ever known in that part of the state has just been concluded at the Methodist church there by Rev. O. H. Callis, of Wilmore, assisted by Singer B. G. Grenfell, of Dawson Springs. There were over 100 professions and the Journal says that the church members of Stanford and vicinity have been awakened as they have not been before. It further declares: "that the community has been greatly benefitted none who know conditions will gainsay. Rev. Callis is said to be hardly more than a boy in years, but the Journal says that he is a wonderful preacher filled with love for his fellowman, realizing fully the blessings of those who follow the meek and lowly Nazarene, he knows how to reach mankind and lead them into the ways of righteousness and right well does he succeed in doing it. The Journal says further: During the 30 or more sermons Dr. Callis preached there was no semblance of anything except for good and lasting. He did not utter one word that the most thin-skinned could take offense at. His fight was for mankind and was against the devil and sin and not a preacher who has been heard in Stanford in years has gained the good will and admiration of the people generally as he did.

PALMER TACKLES THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Attorney General Includes Saving and Safe Investment in Comprehensive Plan.

By Frances M. Cogle.

United States Attorney General Palmer outlines the platform on which the movement to reduce the high cost of living is built. Organization in this work is now going on all over the country and means almost as much to every American citizen as did the war.

The inequality of supply and demand, as a natural outcome of the war, is set forth. Production suffers and is at a low ebb, says the Attorney General. If demand is greater than supply, steps must be taken to decrease demand. By decreasing demand, women must take an active part. They should realize the importance of this reconstruction problem as keenly and with as much patriotism as they realized their responsibilities during the war.

Simple living in the home, which means watching all channels of expenditures wisely, is one of the means towards this end. Extravagance in dress is a great factor. A great many are already conserving in this line. Some of the wealthy are doing it. Prominent men and women are doing it. There are, however, two classes that will not do it—those wealthy ones who have no regard for the rights of their fellow-men or the welfare of their country, and the ones in less fortunate circumstances whose shallow minds are reflected in an empty pocketbook every pay-day. Many spend all on diversions, many spend all on clothing. Their backs are their banks.

Women can do more than half in decreasing the high cost of living if they will "get together" and think.

The labor situation of today is a delicate one and closer understanding and co-operation between employer and employee is urged. Both should give and take, and allow fair adjustment to follow, instead of one or the other side holding out in order to bring their quarrel to the doors of the government, where so many important issues of the day are clamoring for settlement.

Every man has a right to a fair profit, but when he exceeds that fairness he is committing the punishable offense of profiteering, says Mr. Palmer. A study of prices of commodities should be made in conjunction with the Fair Price Commission and when a case of profiteering is found, it should be reported to Fair Price Commissioner or to the Attorney General.

We need unity, sincerity of purpose and adherence to the principles of the movement to accomplish results. We need solid organization and determination. And while we are working along the lines of conservation, fair conditions and saving and thrift, we should not forget the safety of what we save during this period of reconstruction and know that the Government securities are the wisest to own and the best. War Savings Stamps and Treasury Certificates pay splendid interest and are not subject to financial panics that decrease their value. Also we are arming the Government to withstand the many knotty problems of reconstruction.

Some of the things Mr. Palmer urges are these: Buy intelligently and only necessities, raise and make own things, report hoarding, report waste or profiteering in hotels, insist on fair weights and measures, encourage home industries and closer co-operation between original producer and ultimate consumer. Your Government, says Mr. Palmer, will profit if you will help along in these: Preach our form of government, teach English, root out agitators, instill in labor class the thought that agitators should not be feared or tolerated and report their threats to Department of Justice, employers to return loyalty for loyalty, show advantages of our laws, back and push through good legislation, investigate men and women candidates before electing them to office.

SHELBY COUNTY LEADS.

Is First to Report All Rural Schools to Have Savings Societies Organized.

Shelby county, Mo., enjoys the distinction of being the first county in Missouri, the first county in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, and probably the first county in the United States, that has War Savings Societies organized in every school within its borders.

The last week in December witnessed the completion of the organization. Mrs. Myrtle Threlkeld is county superintendent of Shelby county. When Lloyd King, from the Central Organization, visited Shelby county, Mrs. Threlkeld was of great aid in getting Savings Societies organized in each of the schools in each of the towns in that county.

When she saw the splendid work that was being accomplished, and how the pupils were being interested in the work, she took the matter up with the teachers of the rural schools. As a result, each of the 71 rural schools in Shelby county now has a well organized Savings Society, and there are 1,500 members in the rural schools alone.

No trace of the missing naval plane containing three men has been found, although the search has been continuing for a week.

The price she paid for a clean house

—and how her husband's Christmas thoughtfulness saved their happiness

It's bad enough to have all work and no play make Jack a dull boy. But when it makes Jill a household drudge—that's a crime. The loss of playtime, the loss of strength and health is too great a price for your wife to pay for a clean house, because it leads to discontent and unhappiness.

If your wife is tired out when you come home at night; if she is losing her dainty appearance and her good temper alike, she is on the road to paying a price in comparison to which the price of an Ohio Electric Cleaner is infinitesimal.

Happiness is the most precious thing in the world. Don't let such a hum-drum thing as cleaning take it away from you. Make cleaning easier, quicker. Save playtime and happiness. It's up to you this Christmas.

Cleaning everything in the house, easily, thoroughly, is the job for which the Ohio Electric Cleaner is made. It uses the one method of gentle brush and powerful air suction that has proved it can really clean without injuring the finest rug or carpet.

Three important features are the gentle brush, the automatic switch and the automatic dust valve.

The brush revolves slowly, straightening the nap of the carpet and lifting threads, etc., to a position where the powerful suction can whisk them into the dust bag. The brush is guaranteed not to injure the finest rug or carpet.

The automatic switch controls the motor according to the position of the handle. The simplest possible method, and no danger of burning the hand on a frayed electric cord.

When the motor stops, the automatic dust valve closes, preventing dust from falling back from the bag onto the floor.

These and other features make the Ohio a cleaner that really cleans. Investigate at your dealer's. See his name below.

UNITED ELECTRIC COMPANY, CANTON, OHIO

The moment I saw the Ohio Electric Cleaner Jack gave me, a big weight seemed to be lifted from my shoulders. It opened the way to doing lots and lots of happy things we'd never been able to do before.

CUPID'S XMAS RUSH GETTING UNDER WAY

While the Xmas rush is on, along numerous other lines, Dan Cupid remains in business, making no special prices or may other inducements except his usual wiles and the spirit of the holidays, the effects being evident at the office of County Clerk Manpin, who issued licenses Wednesday to four couples, two of whom are from College Hill. None of the weddings took place in this city, they evidently being holiday events arranged for at home.

The list follows: Craig Tandy, 25, of DeHue, W. Va., and Prudence Templeton, 22, of Madison county; Earl Willoughby, 22, and Jessie Conley, 21, of College Hill; Charles C. Webber, 21, and Katherine Ginter, 21, also of College Hill; Augustus Todd, 19, and Naughta Cruse, 19, of Madison county.

Charles Hopes to Come Back

(By Associated Press)

Budapest, Dec. 22.—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary has sent a letter to his supporters here encouraging them in the hope that he will be restored to the Austro-Hungarian throne. "Powerful agents are at work to restore the Austro-Hungarian monarchy and thereby prevent the Austrians from joining Germany," the erstwhile monarch wrote from Prangins, Switzerland, where he is in exile.

After having killed a man and robbing him in Aberdeen, O., the thief and murderer, shared his victim bed the rest of the night where he was caught by the police.

You want a Battery that fits

"You're right. You can't put a short, fat battery into a long slim box in your car. Then you want a battery with terminals that will shake hands like old acquaintances with your car's wiring terminals.

"But the main thing is to give you a battery with the right capacity to work in harmony with your car's electrical system. Your cutting-in-speed counts—that's the speed at which your generator begins to do business—and the number of amperes it feeds into the battery. Those are just some of the conditions your battery must work under. What it all means is that you want a battery of the right capacity to digest the current fed into it and to handle its work without strain.

"We have EXIDE batteries in all sizes and type to replace batteries of all makes. But we won't sell a battery if your old one is repairable. No matter what its make, if its plates are still sound enough, we'll rejuvenate and guarantee it."

If your battery needs recharging, phone 428—we call for and deliver your battery. We also have rental batteries for use while yours are being recharged or repaired.

When a certain man had to leave town for a year he put his fiancé in care of his best friend. Imagine how he felt when, on his return, he found that he had been double-crossed, and that his best friend had married his best girl! In some parts of this country such a situation would have resulted in a hasty funeral, but this was France and it resulted in one of the funniest farces ever filmed—"HER BELOVED VILLAIN," a "sure cure for the grouchy grouch in the wide world."

WITH THE MOVIES

"THE PURPLE CIPHER" IS ENTHRALLING MYSTERY

Soo Nam knew what the Chinese characters drawn with purple ink really meant. They meant something quite different, however, to the men who received letters from the gang of blackmailing assassins, signed with the "Purple Cipher." "The Purple Cipher," an enthralling mystery story by Will F. Jenkins, has been visualized by Vitagraph, and will be shown at the local theatres Wednesday. Many tense scenes give Earl Williams, who appears in the stellar role of Leonard Staunton, excellent opportunities to do his best work.

ing features that make Elise Ferguson's latest Paramount feature picture which will be shown at the local theatres Wednesday, quite different from any photoplay in which that popular star has been seen in recent months.

Miss Ferguson plays three roles, the grandmother, mother and daughter, and her remarkable versatility displays itself captivating in each characterization. The costumes worn by the star are typical of each period and each will prove a powerful attraction to women admirers of Miss

Ferguson. In the story Miss Ferguson has the role of a girl born out of wedlock who loves a British army officer of little worth, and after a harrowing experience, she learns to love a worthy man with whom she finds happiness. Her supporting company is of a high order of excellence, the principals being Dave Powell, Holmes Herbert, Frank Losse, Warren Cook and Ida Waterman. The picture was directed by Hugh Ford, while the adaptation was made by Burns Mantle.

WHEELBARROW VERSUS FINANCIAL MACHINERY

The Foreman's Old Joke About the One Wheeler Teaches Valued Lesson.

The old story about the foreman who yelled at the new hand: "Get away from that wheelbarrow! What do you know about machinery?" has gotten many a laugh. But it is not such bad advice at that. Many a wage earner would have saved his money if some one had shouted similar advice at him, when he started to load his savings into the wheelbarrow of "Blue Sky" stock speculation and dump them on the pile of a crooked promoter.

The first "blue sky" law was framed by the state of Kansas in 1911 to check the activities of promoters who had nothing but the blue sky on which to base their operations. Some of the chances you take in monkeying with unknown machinery may be estimated from the fact that less than 100 of the 1,500 companies that applied for licenses in that state the first year the law was in operation were able to meet the requirements.

The wild cat stock wheelbarrow is easy and simple to operate—if you hear the promoter tell it. All you need is a strong back and a weak head. He will tell you that all you have to do is to pile in your savings, your Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps, and to wheel them over to him in order to turn your money over at a thousand per cent profit.

But if you listen to experienced men, you will find that it is wise to investigate who the promoters of the company are, what their title to the property they are exploiting is based upon, what commission they get and whether your money is to be used to develop the property or to buy limousines for the promoters.

Carrying your savings in government securities, War Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds, may not seem as easy and quick as wheeling them in the wheelbarrow of stock speculation, but it is a lot safer. They will not break down on you and all you need to know about their machinery is that both you and Uncle Sam are behind them.

TRUTH ABOUT HIGH PRICES

Commercial Agency Makes Diagnosis That Gets to Bottom of Affairs.

Bradstreet's index number shows that on December 1, prices were 131 per cent above the pre-war level—the highest since the Civil War at least. The cost of living advanced 1.3 per cent during last November, according to prices of 96 staple commodities.

Why? Profiteering? No. Prices of the necessities of life are high because there are not enough of those necessities to meet the demand.

Why? Because capital which ought to be used to produce the essentials of life is being used to produce non-essentials or luxuries.

Why? Because there is a tremendous demand for luxuries at any price. The people are on a spending jag. They are spending $165,000,000 a day in the United States for Christmas presents alone. Christmas presents are luxuries.

The United States Government properly sees in this a serious menace. It may entail more suffering than the war held for the nations. It is therefore asking every thoughtful, intelligent American to make this a Thrift Christmas by giving securities of the government, such as War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates as presents and to begin saving regularly New Year's day.

We will do well to answer the government's call.

89 PER CENT HELD.

People Take Kindly to Treasury Savings Certificates and Offer Few For Redemption.

The most recent figures compiled by the Treasury Department at Washington tends to correct an erroneous belief that was prevalent during the closing months of last year.

In some sections so many War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates were being offered for redemption that the belief became somewhat general that the government was not realizing much from the sales of these securities. The official figures show that on January 1 there were considerably more than one billion dollars worth of these securities outstanding, and that of all that have been issued since the first War Savings Stamp was on the market, there is but a fraction over 11 per cent offered for redemption.

Financiers say this record is remarkable. The people are holding on to these securities much better than they did on their purchases of Liberty Bonds, and they are holding them much better than the ordinary industrial bonds.

There is a reason. These securities draw 4.27 per cent per annum if held until maturity, and so liberal are the terms that they are practically a 10-day note of the United States government. They may be offered for redemption at any time on 10 days' notice and for the period they are held, if less than maturity, they draw 3 per cent.

"Give me another cup of Rockwood, please." That's the common talk at most of the homes in this good old town. Rockwood is a better coffee. Ask D. B. McKINNEY & CO. 292-67.

THE SCRAP HEAP TELLS THE STORY OF ANY CONCERN

The Man Who Disposes of His Liberty Bonds Is Scrapping His Best Financial Machinery.

CANNOT BE IMPROVED ON

The Wise Men Are Holding On and Putting Surplus Earnings in Treasury Savings Certificates.

A pretty accurate indication of the efficiency of any railroad can be gained by watching what goes on the scrap heap. To move traffic, motor power is the first essential. What kind of comments to you suppose would circulate over a railroad system if someone should suddenly decide to scrap every engine in service and install some new and untried locomotive model operated solely by hot air? Can you imagine what the superintendents of motive power and the master mechanics and the round house foremen and the dispatchers and everyone connected with the road down to the newest call boy would say?

Yet such a change is not only being proposed but is being made by many a railroad man for the operation of his personal financial road. He is scrapping his Liberty Bonds and putting his surplus into hot air locomotives operated on the unsupported promises of a lot of wildcat stock salesmen and promoters. The Liberty Bonds will get his financial trains over the division between the present and the future on schedule and with safety and satisfaction, but he will never make the grade on hot air.

The fact that the present price of Liberty Bonds is below par is not an indication that their real and future value is endangered. It simply is an opportunity for the Purchasing Agent to show that he is on the job and to earn his salary. That is what a P. A. is for—to know enough to buy when standard materials are cheap so that the road will not have to buy when they are dear.

The management, individual or corporate which scraps, sells or wastes its Liberty Bonds now is foolish for by such action the best security in the world is being sacrificed. There is no suggestion in the present price decline that the government has failed to live up to its bargain with the investors of the nation. It has paid and will pay every cent of stipulated interest and principal. But many persons who loaned their money to the government during the war have elected to "call" their loans and have forced their bonds on the market in excess of absorption with consequent temporary depreciation in prices.

The security behind these obligations is the honor and faith of the United States and the whole wealth of the nation. The only security behind fake stocks is the promise of a man or men who do not know and probably never will see. Among the big holders in order to show losses which would reduce income and excess profit taxes. To this has been added the wild riot of spending which has attacked all classes and which has been the cause of sacrificing the savings of years by many.

Right now, Liberty Bonds are the best security in the world to buy and the last thing which should be sold. If you are an efficient purchasing agent for your own personal business, you will seize the opportunity. You'll never make the grade on hot air.

The wise man is holding on to his Liberty Bonds and is augmenting his holdings by purchasing Treasury Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps. And it is becoming more noticeable each day that fewer and fewer of these securities is being offered on the market.

Experience is a dear school master. Take heed from the down-and-outer who has paid dearly for his experience, and resolve you won't go to the same school. War Savings Stamps will make you an up-and-getter.

There is no proverb in the whole catalog of them more true than a penny saved is a penny got—George Washington.

BIG FREIGHT BUSINESS

An unusually heavy freight business is being reported by the railway representatives, although this as well as express is heavy at this time of year. While the business has been very heavy for some time, it was not expected to continue as it has, and instead of a decrease, there is a tendency towards an increase in both lines of transportation.

Jacob Epstein's much discussed sculpture, "The Risen Christ," which is now on exhibition in London. The figure represents a more-than-life-size Christ bearing the wrappings of the tomb and with the left hand pointing to the open wound in the palm of the right hand. Mr. Epstein says, "The head is not a racial head, neither Jewish nor European, but something of a universal type. What I aimed at is to picture Christ first of all a man. Every man has his own Christ. No one sat as model. The statue must be accepted or refused on its merits."

Why I Trade at Home

I trade at home and never roam Seeking "bargains" elsewhere; I love the town in which I live, For all my interests are there. And then, again, I buy from friends. We all need one another: When I run short I can approach My dealer as a brother. When buying here with conscience clear I put my money down. I know it stays right here and works For the welfare of my town. Another thing, right here I bring The produce that I raise. And always get an honest deal— I've found that it pays. And then I know when buying here I help things to relax. And also helps the man who pays His portion of the tax. And when I'm sick or in hard luck The man I buy from here With the pocketbook, it need be. And with kindly words of cheer, So that is why I trade at home; I'm a better through and through. For the town that's good to live in Is good to buy in, too.

GOOD BLOOD CONQUERS DISEASE

Pepto-Mangan Purifies the Blood and Fills it With Red Corpuscles

Scientists like to compare the red corpuscles in the blood to an army. The red corpuscles are disc-shaped, smooth cells which swim in the blood in large numbers. They take up and carry away impurities from all parts of the body.

When disease germs enter your body (and millions do every day) it is the red corpuscles that attack and destroy them.

If you blood is weak and sluggish and loaded with poisons, the disease germs are able to multiply quickly. That is when you are pale and what you call "run down."

That is when you need to take that great tonic, Pepto-Mangan. It contains the ingredients your blood needs to build it up and increase the number of red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan is for sale at your druggist's, and in both liquid and tablet form. They have exactly the same ingredients. Take whichever you prefer. But to make sure you get the genuine, ask for "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," and be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. It

The Gift of Character

—the Crystal Electric Washer, the one-way machine that gets your clothes clean, and one that a child can operate. One lever controls the cylinder, another the wringer; both respond to the lightest touch. You are safe from accidents with the Crystal Wringer. A bunch of bedspreads cannot stall the motor and burn out fuses. An automatic clutch stops the wringer and prevents injury to the operator or the machine. Two real joys of owning a Crystal are its speed and its economy. Ten sheets or their equivalent, no matter how soiled, are washed to snowy whiteness in fifteen minutes. A lifetime supply of hard, non-oozing grease is packed around the Crystal gears.

It cannot drip, nor can it soil your clothes. All moving parts are enclosed to safeguard your skirts and baby fingers. The children can safely stay beside it while you work.

We will appreciate a call to do your washing in your own home, and will be pleased to demonstrate an electric washer that carries a guarantee not only from the factory, but from the firm that sells it to you; will not rip or tear your garments of the finest materials.

NURSING SERVICE IS RAPIDLY EXPANDING

This American Red Cross Work Flourishing in Small Towns Throughout Country.

More than 37,000 graduate nurses have been enrolled in the American Red Cross to date and its department of nursing is daily increasing this enrollment.

The department of nursing has been authorized to maintain an adequate reserve of nurses for the army and navy. It will continue to supply the needs of the United States Public Health Service to which it has assigned more than 1,000 nurses in the last year.

It will assist in establishing proper nursing service in foreign countries where the American Red Cross has organized hospitals, dispensaries and schools for nurses. Courses in home hygiene and care of the sick have been started for thousands of women who have never received any education in this direction. Rural nursing which was in its infancy a short while ago has been put ahead at least a decade through the work of the department of nursing and local Red Cross chapters.

Public health nursing has been extended to many rural communities and now flourishes actively in hundreds of small towns and counties. Nearly a thousand efficient nurses have already been assigned to this kind of work.

The department of nursing is uniting with other organizations in a year's campaign in recruiting nurses for training schools, in educating the general public as to standards of nursing education and in showing communities their responsibility toward schools of nursing. It will endeavor to meet all these needs as well as to continue the enrollment of dietitians who will be utilized as instructors in home dietetics, in developing nutritional clinics, and in supplying dietitians for the United States Public Health Service and the civilian hospitals.

The Nursing Service will continue to offer to women and young girls the opportunity of securing instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick in every community in the country. This instruction has not only laid the foundation for public health but in some places has given impetus to the establishment of hospitals and community school houses.

"As a community profits by the work of the nurse," says Miss Clara D. Noyes, director of the department of nursing, "it is logical that the community should be aroused to its responsibility. The American Red Cross stands ready to help in a general campaign of recruiting and must have the support, sympathy and understanding of the medical profession as well as the intelligent co-operation of the people at large."

WEATHER HOLDS UP WORK ON TOLL LINE

While present weather is said to be the best ever for handling tobacco, it is not conducive to rapid outside work, especially the building of a toll line, and this is what Superintendent Harris, of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, is interested in at present, since he has been very desirous of having the new line, the second to connect Richmond and Winchester, connected before Xmas. It is not believed that this can be accomplished now, owing to weather interference. The second line, however, will be completed as soon as possible. The workmen have been making splendid progress lately, but when the volume of work is taken into consideration, there remains much yet to do.

TOBACCO SEASON CLOSING

Tobacco stripping and grading and the general preparation work for market is being finished by many producers this week, and Xmas will find almost every Madison county producer with his crop ready for the warehouse. The work during the past two weeks has been the most extensive in years, it is said. The weather is all that could be asked for handling the weed and there has been little, if any, loss by dryness.

STUDENT EXODUS FILLS ALL TRAINS

Outgoing passenger trains were filled Wednesday to overflowing owing to the exodus from Eastern Normal, which closed Wednesday afternoon for the holiday vacation. Several hundred students, both boys and girls, took their departure for their homes, where they will remain for a week or more, since their studies will not be resumed until January 2. The big halls at the campus, as well as other buildings, will be practically vacated, since the closing of the school is complete, and there will be no special classes during the vacation. With the closing there were many short programs and a formal observance of the occasion. There were many treats given and many surprises of a pleasing nature. The return of the students for the next period will be followed by the beginning of the winter term in February, when the ranks are expected to be filled, since there are more than 200 additional students booked for beginning work at this time.

STATE INSPECTOR OF FACTORIES TESTIFIES

I Hope Everybody in Virginia Will See My Statement," Says Miller In Telling of Benefits He Obtained From Taking Tanlac.

"I hope everybody in Virginia will see my statement and that every one suffering from stomach trouble and a run down condition will take Tanlac," said Jerry P. Miller, State Factory Inspector, for the Workmen's Compensation Bureau, residing at 440 Eleventh avenue, Roanoke, Va.

"I knew what Tanlac would do for me when I got it, for my parents are Tanlac enthusiasts and had I been at home I'd not have had the spell of indigestion that knocked me out. Being on the go all the time, and eating anywhere and sleeping when I got a chance, I thought I was too busy when I began ailing to take medicine and maybe the trouble would right itself.

"But it didn't and I was really down before I knew it. I hurt all over and had the worst kind of pains in my stomach after eating, terrible headaches, an awful pain in my back over my kidneys, my feet swelled till I had to stay in several days because I couldn't get by shoes on and I had frequent attacks of nausea.

"I was in a fearful fix, but when I began taking Tanlac my troubles left me quicker than they had come. Two bottles put me on my feet and I've gained back the ten pounds I lost. I'm all right now and expect to remain that way, for I shall heed the first danger signal and get a bottle of Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son; in College Hill by Ginter Bros; in Berea by Welch Department Stores.

SCREEN VILLAIN IS LIKEWISE SALESMAN

That an actor may also be a sound business man and a successful salesman is evident from the fact that Frank Elliott sold Metro Picture Co., a $15,000 bill of Sunlight arcs while he was playing a stellar role at the Metro studios in Hollywood as the "heavy" in "The Hope," a picturization of the spectacular Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton, which is to be shown at the local theatres Friday.

Mr. Elliott, whose name is known on the stages of England, America, and Australia, has been a motion picture actor for six years. Somewhat of an electrical engineer, and realizing the important part lighting plays in screen production, he introduced a little more than a year ago, a new and powerful arc light into the studios. This arc is an adaptation of the search light and is claimed to give a minimum candlepower of 120,000. With its use photographs made outdoors at night appear to have been done in sunlight—hence the name, Sunlight arc.

Mr. Elliott placed six of these lights with Metro, where two were already in use. No other studio in the United States possesses so many. Altogether 35 are in use on the Pacific coast.

MISTAKE IN PROPERTY PRICE

The Daily Register's report of the sale of the Burnam property on Main street, which was purchased by D. B. McKinney, grocer, at auction Saturday last, said that he paid $12,500 for the property, when the price should have been given as $12,850. Many regard that Mr. McKinney secured a bargain at that figure, for the lot extends all the way through from Main to Water streets and has a large barn on the rear.

FAMOUS ACTRESS IN PHILOSOPHIC TALK ON SAVING

ELSIE JANIS WILL NOT FALL FOR RIDICULOUS HIGH PRICES AND BELIEVES IN SAVING.

TELLS OF A SHOPPING TRIP

Visits School She Attended When Child and Remarks on Values of U. S. Securities.

Elsie Janis, whose efforts to entertain the men overseas throughout the war have been widely recognized by members of the A. E. F., did not cease her patriotic efforts with the close of the war. Long before she became a theatrical luminary, Miss Janis used to go to school in Columbus, Ohio. When she heard the children of Columbus were conducting a thrift drive, Miss Janis wrote to the youngsters where she went to school, encouraging them in their efforts to save.

Miss Janis has a unique system for saving. She says the best way to save is to forget about spending.

"I've come to the conclusion," she wrote, "that the best way to save money is to learn to forget. If you want something badly you know you can't afford, think it over, take the money and put it away; then forget it. You will find that you can live without the object you desire—and you can make ends meet without the money you would have paid for it."

"I went into a shop the other day firmly intending to buy several gowns. When a simple blue serge dress was two hundred, an evening gown two fifty and a coat six hundred, I walked right out and turned on all the Christian Science I possess. I took fifty dollars and with it bought mother and myself each a hat and some gloves."

"I took the thousand that I would have paid if I had not come to in time, and bought a $1,000 Treasury Savings Certificate. We came home and pulled out all last year's dresses and decided that the styles of last year were better than this year. We forgot about the certificate, but it won't forget about us, because it is going to pay us 4.27 per cent for not being weak-minded and vain about clothes."

"If you are a kiddie and your father gives you, let us say, fifty cents a week, you are a lucky kiddie—but, if by chance he did so, try going without some little thing that costs a dime every week and you will be surprised how little you will miss the little thing that you go without and how proud you will be when the dime gets to be dollars."

"The man, woman or child who has the capacity for making money and no talent for saving is like a man with a glorious singing voice who is stone deaf. He can make a lot of noise for a short time and then—? The life of a real money maker is about 15 years. Once you learn to make it, it comes easy, but unless you learn to save it, it goes easier. People rarely sympathize with a person who has had money and lost it. Of him the world says: 'Poor boob, he had his chance, why didn't he hang on to it.'"

"I am beginning to sound like Mrs. Shylock, but really I am sincere. Save and forget—and they never will give a benefit for you in your old age."

The price of a $100 Treasury Savings Certificate in January is $82.40. On January 1, 1925, it will have grown into a $100 bill, having earned 4.27 per cent. A War Savings Stamp in January may be bought for $4.12 and on January 1, 1925, it is worth $5.00.

HEINZ FAVORED SAVING.

Originator of "The 57 Varieties" Did Not Go Much on What His Neighbors Thought.

The late Henry P. Heinz, who achieved both fame and fortune through the "57 varieties," was a firm believer in the inability of the tail to wag the dog. "Extravagance is the bane of America," he once said. "And why are we extravagant? For the fun of it? No. For the neighbors' sake."

"I know a man who awoke very late one winter's night and found his wife just returning shivering to the bedroom. 'What was the loud noise I just heard and what are you doing up in the cold?' he asked."

"It's all right, dear," his wife answered. "You see, people are just coming home from the opera and I just slipped down and slammed the front door hard so that the neighbors would think we'd been there."

One of the objects of the Thrift and Savings campaign of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department is to call attention of the people of America to the fact that it is not worth a barefoot trip in the cold to slam the door on a neighbor's opinion of spending, and that possession of government savings securities, War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates, offer better evidence of prosperity than extravagant and useless buying.

All merchants of Richmond have agreed to remain open until 8 o'clock each evening this week.
